40,000 STILL THE FIGURES

Reliable Reports From 54 Counties
Give Haskell 36,548 Majority.---
Only Three of Them for Frantz ---
Republicans Still Refuse to Give up.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 19.—From incomplete returns received at the democratic state headquarters, Chairman Thompson's estimate made Tuesday night of 40,000 for Haskell and the state democratic ticket appears to have been conservative. They have what is relied upon as conservative reports from fifty-four counties giving the ticket 36,548 majority. Of these only three counties show majorities for Frantz. Alfalfa is republican by 250, Logan by 900, and Oklahoma county, where the republicans relied for their greatest strength is locally estimated to be against Haskell by about 300 at the lead. It is Chairman Thompson's estimate that the republicans have only majorities in seven counties, Alfalfa, Oklahoma, Logan, Garfield, Wagoner, and Blaine, with Sequoyah county doubtful.

The incomplete county majorities publicly posted are: Atoka 500, Beckham 100, Bryan 2, 200, Caddo 350, Carter 1,590, Canadian 350, Cherokee 300, Choctaw 200, Coal 700, Comanche 500, Craig 450, Custer 400, Garvin 1,500, Grady 1,720, Grant 250, Greer being Roger Mills, Cleveland, Beckham, Hughes, 53, Jackson 1,500, Johnson 1,500, Kingfisher 150, Kiowa 700, Latimer 250, Cleveland 700, LeFlore 1,300, Lincoln 200, Love 673, McClain 900, McCurtain 300, McIntosh 300, Marshal 802, Mayes 600, Murray 800, Muskogee 300, Nowata 30, Okmulgee 100, Osage 450, Payne 250, Pawnee 250, Pittsburg 1,250, Pontotoc 1,600, Pushmataha 500, Pottawatomie 1,500 Rogers 600, Seminole 150, Stephens 1,250, Texas 350, Tillman 1,000, Tulsa 400, Washita 800, Washington 35, and Woods 40

From the republican headquarters the claim of a Frantz victory is still being made, but comparatively little other information is given. Chairman Hunter states that information from the southern part of the state show Frantz to be ahead of the ticket. They say reliable reports are awaited from the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nation before detailed statement will be made. The Creek and Cherokee nations are claimed by the republican committee as being for Frantz. Haskell is given but four counties in Oklahoma according to the committee, they being Roger Mills, Cleveland, Beckham, Kiowa.

I. HARRIS

Clothier and Gents Furnisher

A well known club man likes nothing better than to hunt big game in British Columbia. During his last expedition to that region he was in camp with a friend from Minnesota. Toward morning, says the New Yorker, he awoke shivering with the cold. The fire was very low. His companion was fast asleep.

It isn't nice to get out of a warm blanket to roll frosty logs to the fire, so the wily New Yorker gave his friend a kick and then pretended to be asleep. There was no response, and presently the man from New York tried another kick.

At this westerner broke into a laugh. "I did the same thing to you twenty minutes ago," he explained, "and that's how you came to be awake."

Then of course, both turned out to build a fire.—Lippincott's.

ARE FARMERS CAPITALISTS.

One of the things which the capitalists are trying to fix upon the minds of the farmers at present is the idea that they are capitalists and not laborers. They see a disposition on the part of the producers to side with the laboring classes in their stand against foreign immigration and in a desire to control or wipe out monopoly. In order to convert the farmer to a belief that he is himself a capitalist, all the forces of plutocracy have been put to work to make out that the farmer is rich in everything. He is depicted as living in a modern palace and riding in automobiles or in his own private railway coach. He takes in the summer resorts in summer and goes south in the winter. The Oregonian, of Portland, Oregon, is the first paper to come out openly with a proposition of this kind. It says:

"The farmer has always been thought of as a laboring man, and to a great extent his work has been classed as unskilled labor. His interests, and therefore his sympathies, have been in general, identical with laboring men of other walks of life. In controversies that have arisen from time to time between the large employers of labor and the employees, it has always been assumed, and has generally been true, that the farmers hoped to see victory perched upon the banners of the employees. Though the farmer has been an employer of labor, his attitude and relations toward his employees are different from those maintained by the manufacturer, the railroad company or the construction concern. He works in the field beside his hired man, eats at the same table with him, and in all things meet him upon a common plane.

"But the past year or two has wrought a change of conditions which have long prevailed. The farmer has found difficulty in procuring help, and the laboring man, realizing the strength of his position, has held up the farm owner for higher wages than the farmer could afford to pay. The dairy farmer has sought help only to be rewarded by a contemptuous refusal when the suggestion of milking is made. Grubbing stumps is too low a class of work for the farm employee of today. The wage earner on the farm has by force of circumstances become a dictator, and the employer must take care lest he offend the hired help and lose them in a critical time. The farmer has been brought to a realization of the fact that he is a capitalist with a large investment in a property which employs labor and now he must manage carefully if he hopes to make the gross receipts from his farm pay a net profit after giving farm labor the share it demands and expects. Quite naturally the farmer will take a different view of labor problems—a view determined by his own interests. He is no longer a laboring man—he is a capitalist."

Now there are farmers and farmers, just as there are business men and business men. The business man who runs a store in a country town, and who does his own work to a great extent, has found out that his interests are not the same as those of the great department houses in Chicago, because his business prosperity depends on his labor while that of the Chicago house is based on capital. The same principle applies to farming. The capitalist farmer who can employ Chinese or Japanese and sit in the house while drawing profits forced from the workers who are allowed to farm his broad acres has entirely different interests from those of the farmer who must combine brawn with brain in the production of wealth.

The broad-acre, capitalist farmer is slowly, but surely, becoming a thing of the past, and farmers will have to depend on their own efforts and on improved machinery to do their work. The question at present is not how cheaply they can produce wealth by hiring cheap workers, but how to reduce the cost by scientific farming, and how to get an equitable and comparatively fair price for the product of their labor.

Some of our farm papers are busy trying to convince the farmers that they should become, and should consider themselves employers instead of producers, but the average farmer knows that his prosperity depends more upon the wages he receives as a laborer, based upon the price of his product, than it does upon his profits as a capitalist derived from taxing those whom he employs to produce wealth.

Our government is limiting the amount of land that can be owned by one man in the irrigation districts and it is of vastly more importance that all the people should have an opportunity to obtain good homes than that a law should be enacted to increase their prosperity by hiring cheap labor. Cheap labor means large holdings and destructive methods of farming. High priced labor means economical production and fair prices.

The Oregonian has always been noted for trying to keep up a separate capitalist class, and works for that class. At the same time it has some good and liberal ideas in relation to many things. It is very inconsistent, however, about many things.—Up-to-Date Farming.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NEXT.

That the constitution has carried by heavy majority appears to be certain and the next move in the travail will be to present the organic law of the new state to President Roosevelt for his endorsement or rejection upon his judgment solely as to whether or not it conforms to the enabling act of congress and does not conflict with the constitution of the United States.

His duty in this matter is perfunctory and it is hardly probable that there is anything in the constitution that would give the national executive a sufficient reason for its rejection. Some flimsy partisan pretext for rejecting the organic act might be resorted to, but this narrowness is not attributed to President Roosevelt even by persons of opposite political faith. The republican leaders of the new state do expect it of him, or they would not have nominated a state ticket. The latest hope on their part of defeating statehood vanished when the people of Oklahoma and Indian Territory endorsed the constitution at the polls.

The president will approve the constitution. To reject it would be a partisan crime that would cause the entire nation to raise its voice in protest.

When War Is Better Than Peace.

From the Reader.

There are higher ideals even than those of peace. Such are the ideals of humanity, as we did in the case of Cuba. And President Roosevelt, has recently again called attention to the fact that there is always a possibility of conflict between the ideal of peace and justice.

Moreover, there are questions affecting the life and growth of a nation, questions affecting its sense of dignity, honor and conscience of moral worth, questions affecting the welfare of the race and the future interests of civilization which can in no wise be submitted to arbitration, at least for the present. The United States will never consent to arbitrate any question endangering the existence of the Monroe doctrine; neither England, Russia nor Japan could be induced to delegate the Hague tribunal the settlement of their commercial rivalries in the far East. It does not follow that such questions must be decided by the arbitrament of the God of Battles, but they are not proper subjects for judicial arbitration.

However, there seems to be questions whose Gordian knot cannot be cut except by the sword. Now, for example, would it have been possible to drive General Weyler out of starving and dying Cuba unless by the use of force? How could the unity of modern Germany or Italy have been accomplished or the independence of the Dutch or American republics have been established except at the cost of war and sacrifice of human life? How can the Turkish parasites who feed like locusts upon the native population of South-eastern Europe ever be driven out unless it be at the point of the bayonet?

On the other hand the earth has been drenched with the blood of those who have died vainly for the lust of luxury and conquest or the greed of avarice and ambition. Millions have died in unworthy and ignoble causes, and millions more have been sacrificed in causes which, however good or just in themselves, might have been settled by diplomacy, meditation or arbitration.

Why the Nations Cannot Disarm.

From the Reader.

Wedged in for a generation between France Russia and Germany has forced others as well as herself to bear military burdens beyond a parallel in history. Checked and thwarted at many turns in her commercial and colonial aims by England, she has created a great navy, and has outlined a naval program which threatens to put even British willingness to bear enormous naval expenditures to a severe test. Relieved for a time by the Russo-Japanese war of the fear of Russian pressure on the eastern frontier, the German empire has finally been surrounded through British diplomacy by a network of alliances, until it stands practically isolated in Europe. To ask Germany to reduce or even limit her armaments under these conditions would be like asking a soldier to abandon his weapons when surrounded by enemies.

Unless Germany takes the initial step, France cannot disarm with safety to her prestige and interests. It might be that her very life would be endangered. Neither Italy or Austria are in position to follow an independent policy of their own in this matter, although it may be that Italy could afford to suffer loss of prestige and disarm under a guarantee of the powers. But it is likely that Germany would object.

Only Great Britain, the United States and the smaller and weaker states of Europe and America can, under the present conditions, afford to dispense with large standing armies; but England and the United States must, at least for the present, rely upon large and powerful navies for the protection of their interests and for the sake of their prestige.

Shortage in Railroad Ties Predicted.

Washington—Shortage in railroad ties is becoming a serious problem to the railroads of the United States. Only recently the forestry bureau of the department of agriculture predicted a lumber famine in the country in seventy-five years if the present consumption of lumber was maintained under the present conditions of preservation of the forests, and manufacture of out-put. When it is realized that the railroads used last year 103,000,000 railroad ties, averaging about 90 broad feet each, and that this number of ties aggregate more than 3,000,000,000 broad feet, or one-twelfth of the sawed lumber produced in the entire country in one year, the problem can be better understood. That such a shortage has been foreseen by the railroads is manifested by their almost frantic efforts in the past to find a substitute for wood from which to make railroad ties. A few years ago a steel tie was invented.

The Pay of Revivalists.

From the American Magazine.

Successful evangelists get big pay nowadays. The Rev. "Billy" Sunday received $3,600 for a few weeks' work in Fairfield, Iowa. "I think the people who work for Christ ought to be enabled to live as well as those who work for the devil," says Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Lyon, who held meetings for a month in Oberlin, Ohio, stipulated that he was to receive no pay except that which was freely given him at the three last meetings. The contribution taken for his benefit yielded him $1,800, which is as much as the average Oberlin professor receives for a year's work.

The Rev. Mr. Freuder of Philadelphia, tells the story of himself.

Some time ago I was invited to dine at the house of a friend, whose wife went into the kitchen to give some final orders. Incidentally, she added to the servant, "We have a Jewish rabbi for dinner today."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. J. F. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

Blinded by Dynamite.

Chandler, Okla., Sept. 19.—John Merritt, chief forester of the Woodman camp of Chandler, had the sight in one eye destroyed entirely and the other so injured that it may also be lost, by a premature explosion of dynamite, while blasting out rock. His condition is critical.

STATEHOOD A FACT IN 30 DAYS

Oklahoma will become a state in reality within thirty days, if the president signs the constitution.

The county commissioners of the various counties of the new state have ten days in which to canvass the vote and certify to the state election board in Guthrie.

As soon as the returns are all reported to the state election board, according to the provisions of the territorial statutes, the state election board must canvass them, decide all precincts, and certify the result to the president at Washington.

From the date on which the certified result of the Oklahoma election reaches him the president has 20 days in which to either sign or reject the proposed constitution of the new state. Republicans have insisted that Roosevelt will not sign the constitution in its present form. Under the provisions of the law he must make his decision within twenty days from the time the document reaches him.

Prohibition becomes effective at the time the president signs the constitution. There will be no delays, and there are sufficient statutory provisions for the enforcement of the law during the time that will intervene between the signing of the constitution and the opening session of the legislature. Saloon men have hoped to postpone the enforcement of the provision on prohibition until the legislature convenes, hoping to get some relief from this body, but this will not be done.—Oklahoman.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 19.—Managers of the statewide prohibition campaign were in consultation last night over the reputed statement of Assistant Attorney General Elkin that the prohibition election might be declared illegal for the reason that the original election ordinance had not been filed by the Constitutional convention. As the governor's proclamation calling the election was legal, the election is held to be likewise.

Fatal Cutting Affray.

Durant, I. T., Sept. 18.—As a result of a fight yesterday at Blue, I. T., 10 miles east of Durant, Wade Nicholas is dead and John Anderson is so seriously cut that it is thought he cannot live. The affray occurred back of a store building. Both men walked to the Nicholas home, some blocks away, where Nicholas died this morning. No arrests have been made and it is asserted that no one knows who committed the deed.

Negro Shot and Killed.

Muskogee, I. T., Sept. 19.—A crowd of negroes from Rentiesville, I. T., who had followed the judges of election to Checotah, were dispersed by City Marshal George Odom of Checotah, and one negro, J. C. Adams, was killed. Odom was brought to Muskogee by the United States Marshal and arrested.

Plunge Into Sacred Tank

An Indian diving from a 50-foot tower into a sacred tank at Delhi. An authority on Indian matters informs us that it is doubtful whether the Indians who dive into the tanks do so as part of a religious rite or not. He himself has never heard the diving described as part of any rite. He has little doubt, however, that the divers have to pay for the privilege of diving into the tanks of the temples, and that some of their gains go into the pockets of the priests.

SNEEZE FAD THE LATEST.

GIRL ACCIDENTALLY STARTS NEW DIVERSION IN JERSEY.

Was a Victim of Hay Fever—Queer New Frolic at Summer Resort Guaranteed to Drive Away Blues.

New York.—There are all sorts of epidemics at summer colonies. There's the embroidery epidemic, the croquet epidemic, both flourishing best in piazza surroundings. Then of more active variety, there is the epidemic of tennis, croquet, shuffleboard, and others more prevalent among the "young folks" than with the piazza coterie. But it was left to the colonists at a small lake in northern New Jersey to discover the joys of sneezing. There the sneezing epidemic developed. It all happened in this way. A young woman who arrived one morning at the little country station was a hay fever victim. On her drive from the station to the lakeside cottage where she was to stop she passed through field after field of new-mown hay and as is the custom of hay-fever victims she began to sneeze. All through that drive she sneezed. She frightened the horse, she frightened her friend who was driving, who thought she would gradually use up all her strength in those uncontrollable sneezes. She frightened herself for she had never been in such an uncomfortable state.

They drove to the village drug store and there she asked the village doctor for some remedy. He advised a certain kind of medical snuff, and she quickly invested in a bottle. That was the beginning of the epidemic.

It got to be a joke, the way she sneezed, but always after the volley of sneezes consequent to the snuff taking she would be free for a while.

When she found that she was amusing her friends she wanted some of the same kind of amusement herself and prevailed on some of the younger members of the family to join in her sneezing and try her bottle. They rather enjoyed it and the various kinds of sneezes caused so much merriment that it soon became a daily performance to pass around the bottle and have a sneeze frolic.

Some young people came over the lake in their canoes one night. There were ten of them and they all sat on the piazza and talked like gossip. They were finally told about the new habit, and as young people in the country are usually ready for any new experience, they consented to try. Soon there arose such a hubbub as was seldom heard on the quiet summer nights there. Mingled with laughter came the sneezes and gasps, thick and fast. It lasted for five minutes or more, with an occasional spasm from some one with a special propensity for sneezing long after the others had stopped.

"Where did you say you got that?" asked one enthusiastic young guest. "In the village?" and they all went away in their canoes still laughing.

The next day four bottles of the stuff were bought and four cottages were supplied. From then on it was no uncommon thing for the silent paddlers who canoed along the moonlit lake to hear all along the shore at the different bungalows and cottages the wild volleys of sneezes and the roars of laughter that always accompanied them. New victims were continually arriving, and these were especially interesting to those who had become accustomed to the new art.

It soon developed into a science. Some progressive and thoughtful young man made a "sneeze book" in which he carefully noted all the different kinds of sneezes and wrote down the characteristics of the owners. It got to be as popular as a palmy book. More books were copied from this one and finally character reading became a case of "Sneeze and I'll tell you what you are."

The sneeze epidemic has not passed yet at this New Jersey resort, and be it harmful or otherwise it has certainly been the cause of enough laughs to drive away indigestion and the blues.

Drunken Bees Torment City.

Pasadena, Cal.—Scores of angry citizens have made complaint to the authorities that bees and flies, intoxicated on fermented orange juice, have become a nuisance that should be abolished. They say that the proprietors of a nursery near the town have a large force of Japanese employed extracting seeds from partly decayed oranges, and in the process of squeezing the seeds from the oranges a small stream of orange juice flows from the place, which attracts millions of flies and bees, which become intemperate. The nursery uses the seeds for planting.

MAKES GOOD WINDOW SEAT.

How Old Fashioned Walnut Parlor Chair May Be Utilized.

When you have one of the old fashioned walnut parlor chairs with carved legs you can, with the addition of a kitchen chair, make a neat window seat or couch for a den.

Remove upholstery and springs from the parlor chair. This forms the back, which you saw off, and attach the front legs to a hollow square which makes the frame for seat. Saw off the pair of front legs just where they are joined to side strip, leaving what were the front legs and front of seat intact. Saw off the back piece of the square where it joins the sides and you have the back legs, separated, but each is attached to the side piece which formerly connected them with the front. Attach each side piece with its corresponding back leg to the front so that you have four front legs for your settee, the two middle being the former front legs of the chair, the two end ones being the former back legs. Treat the kitchen chair similarly and you have four back legs; stain to match front if possible. Join front to back by strip of two by four or other strong pieces; nail boards close together for seat. Cover with excelsior or old quilt, over which nail, with brass tacks, a pretty cover. An old portiere, cretonne, or even a pretty piece of old carpet or rug will do. Let the cover fall over in front to hide the rough work.

TO MAKE BAKED CUSTARDS.

Dish That Should Be Prepared Early in the Morning.

Early in the morning make small, individual baked custards, as follows: Bring a quart of milk to a boil to insure sweetness in your custards. Beat five eggs to a froth, white and yolks separately. If you like the custard sweet, allow a scant tablespoon of granulated sugar for each egg and beat this firmly into the yolks. Add to the boiled milk a scant teaspoonful of melted butter and a dash of salt. Pour the hot milk over the yolks of the eggs, beat in the whites lightly, add a teaspoonful of vanilla, pour into custard cups and bake 20 or 30 minutes, set in a pan of boiling water. At dinner time they should be very cold. Run a smooth knife around the inside of each cup and the custard can be turned out in a firm, even shape. Have ready a sweet jelly which you have melted over the fire, or else some fresh fruit juice strained and flavored. Pour this over the custard molds as a sauce and serve cold.

FOR A TART DESSERT.

Lemon Custard Is a Most Welcome Summer Dish.

A tart dessert is most welcome in summer. Try this lemon custard, which is precisely like the filling used for pie, but much more tasty without the crust: Three cups of water, brought to a boil and thickened with three tablespoons of corn starch rubbed smooth in cold water. Sweeten with two small cups of granulated sugar, bring to a boil again and add two tablespoons of butter, the grated rind of two lemons and the juice, strained clear, of three. Cook for a few minutes. Add three eggs beaten very light, pour into a pudding mold and bake until set, about 20 minutes. If you prefer, mix with the yolks of eggs only with boiling water, and reserve the whites for a meringue, beating them stiff with three tablespoons of powdered sugar and allowing the meringue to bake to a golden brown.

Rye Muffins.

Put one quart of water in a granite kettle; when it boils put in one-quarter of a teaspoonful of soda, then sprinkle in (evenly) one cup of rye meal (not flour). Add a heaping tablespoonful of butter, one cup of sugar, and salt. When cool add one-half of a yeast cake and stir in all the flour you can, for it grows thin as it rises. If desired, use two-thirds of a cup of molasses instead of sugar. The rye meal can be increased in quantity if preferred. This is an old and quite famous bread.

Sage Tea Tonic.

Green tea, two ounces; garden sage, two ounces; put in a saucepan which can be covered closely, and pour over the herbs three quarts of boiling water. Let simmer until reduced one-third. Take off the fire and let stand for 24 hours, strain and bottle; apply every night before retiring. Dry well or the tonic will stain the pillow.

Oilcloth Sewing Rug.

Keep a square of table oilcloth to lay under the machine when sewing. Endeavor to have all the threads and ravelings from ripping fall on the rug, so that all the litter may be removed on a moment's notice. This is especially convenient where one has to do the sewing in the living room.

Shelled Beans.

Soak and cook as usual kidney or cranberry beans. When tender, pour off the water, add sour cream to thoroughly moisten and simmer half an hour. The alkali in the beans removes the acid taste from the cream and the resulting combination is particularly good.

Fried Tomatoes and Eggs.

Cut some thick slices of tomato, dip each into flour seasoned with salt and pepper, and fry. Make some rounds of toast; butter these, lay the tomatoes on them, and put a poached egg on each; sprinkle with chopped parsley.—Harper's Bazar.

Spain's Royal Infant

First portrait of King Alphonso's son and heir, the Prince of Asturias shown in the arms of the Countess of Puerto; the new crown prince is thriving wonderfully and is said by the court physician to be in perfect health. The baby is gaining in weight rapidly and has developed in intelligence to such an extent that he recognizes his parents and prefers their society, for the rare occasions when state affairs do not take them away from him. In spite of the fact that he is attended by a corps of nurses the royal infant is in no danger of being spoiled, and is already being taught that he cannot have his own way simply by crying for what he wishes.

TONGUE TIED BY WRIT.

LANDLORD OBTAINS INJUNCTION AGAINST WOMAN.

Man Has Troublesome Tenant Restrained by Court From Speaking to Him or Her Own Husband About Orders.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—A Kalamazoo man has at last discovered the way to curb the tongue of woman. His discovery is timely, and the only fear is that the system will be worked overtime.

Frank B. Morris, who owns a farm near this city, employed Irvy Savage to work it. Savage has a wife, claimed to be all her name implies, and soon after the farmhand and his wife had taken possession of the tenant cottage on the farm Mrs. Savage discovered that she did not like the owner.

The dislike grew and finally reached Mrs. Morris. The landowner claimed that during his and his wife's visits to their farm to oversee the work and give orders Mrs. Savage made life miserable for them. Consulting an attorney he was advised to make application for an injunction.

Morris followed the advice, and his petition was presented to Judge John W. Adams. In it he charged that Mrs. Savage has an uncontrollable temper, and frequently used coarse language in his presence and that of his wife.

The woman was also alleged to have influenced her husband not to carry out the orders given by Morris, and the landowner prayed the court that Mrs. Savage be enjoined from speaking to either himself or wife on the farm or on the street. Also that she be restrained from interfering with her husband carrying out the orders his employer issued.

The injunction was issued, and the court's order was served on Mrs. Savage. By its provisions she cannot, without being in contempt of court, leave the lot which surrounds the tenants' cottage, nor can she speak to Mr. and Mrs. Morris.

Enraged by the order, Mrs. Savage packed her belongings and moved away from the farm. Before leaving, however, she pulled up every growing plant in the garden she had made. While the Savages have left the Morris farm, the court's order stands, and Mrs. Savage must not speak as she passes her husband's former employer on the streets.

DREAM MADE HER BREAK NECK.

In Turning Girl Dislocated Vertebrae—Surgeons Reset Them.

Camden, N. J.—Dreaming of bears, the traditional bugaboo of childhood, ten-year-old Olga Bennett of South Second street was frightened so badly by a vision of the beasts pursuing her that she turned suddenly and dislocated her neck. The pain of the dislocation awakened her and she called loudly for help. Her parents rushed to her bedside and tried to allay her fears, but she continued to scream until she fainted from the pain.

When the older folks attempted to revive her they noticed that her head hung limp from her body. Not understanding what could all the child they called in a physician. He saw immediately that her neck was dislocated. An ambulance was called and she was hurried to the Homeopathic hospital, where a careful examination of the injury was made. It was found impossible to make any progress in giving the girl even temporary relief until the X-rays were used. With their aid an attempt was made to replace the dislocated vertebrae.

The first few attempts were unsuccessful, and the surgeons were in despair of saving the child's life; but finally an attempt was made which is thought to have been successful. With the aid of a harness the girl's head has been put in position and held there. It will be several days, however, before it is known what the results of the peculiar accident will be. In the meantime the case is being watched with much interest by the medical profession of this and neighboring cities.

ONE-HALF OF HIS BONES REMOVED.

Man Lives Ten Months After Remarkable Operation.

Detroit, Mich.—George J. Schwartz, aged 31, died after living ten months without any bones on the right side of his body, lying flat on his back during the entire time, his fight against death for nearly a year providing a new wonder for the world of medicine.

Mr. Schwartz was afflicted with a tumor three years ago. He underwent an operation. This was unsuccessful and three other operations followed within the two years following. Last summer his condition became so serious that his physicians decided another operation was all that could prolong his life.

A like attempt had never been performed. Physicians found that all the bones on the right side of the trunk were diseased and must be removed to insure a continuance of life. The operation was held Oct. 3 last at the Detroit sanitarium, and was witnessed by physicians from all over Michigan, medical students and members of the medical profession from adjoining states. All the ribs on the right side, the collar bone, the breastbone, part of the hip and shoulder blade were removed and the patient was left without any frame for his right side.

Mr. Schwartz recovered, but was never able to lie in any other position than on his back. His fortitude was declared marvelous by all physicians under whose notice the patient came. No one who witnessed the operation thought he would survive. For some time past his death was momentarily expected, but he constantly rallied until the battle against the final end had exhausted all strength.

SWAINS FIGHT FOR SAME GIRL.

"You Win! I Love Her, but I'll Keep Away," Says Loser.

New York.—Frank Jorden and Thomas Sullivan, two young men from Harlem, love the same girl, and as they could not settle the matter peaceably they fought five rounds on the banks of Mott Haven creek, the Bronx, with the agreement that the winner was to take the girl.

Jorden won by a knockout, and when Sullivan had been revived he shook hands with his opponent and said: "You win. I love the girl, but I'll keep my word."

About a hundred persons witnessed the fight, having accompanied the gladiators from Harlem. The boys stripped to the waist, and with Michael Hurley as referee and Frederick Cope as timekeeper, went at it according to marquis of Queensberry rules, except that they used bare fists.

Just as Jorden delivered the knockout the police arrived, and the spectators literally took to the woods, scattering in every direction. The name of the girl was not divulged, but the way the boys went at each other showed that they were very much in love.

SNAKE BITE TO CURE CANCER

Woman's Remarkable Experience Suggests a New Remedy.

Port Jervis, N. Y.—A remarkable cure of cancer has been effected on Mrs. Wilhelmina Ludwig, a farmer's wife, who resides several miles back of Millrift, in Pike county, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Ludwig has been a sufferer from a cancer on her left leg, just above the knee, for a long time. The disease had advanced until a spot about six inches long by three wide was developed.

While out picking huckleberries two weeks ago she was bitten on the leg by rattlesnakes. Her nephew, Karl Ludwig, came to her assistance and killed three rattlesnakes, which by their appearance had just shed their skins.

Before the doctor came the woman's leg had swelled to an enormous size. A remarkable thing about the case was that the swelling did not go above the spot where the cancer was located.

The physician said he could do nothing on account of the cancer, and that the woman would die.

And now comes the remarkable point in the case. The cancer, which had always had the appearance of ink, fringed with red, turned into a running sore.

It remained in this condition for four days. On the fourth day the discharge stopped and proud flesh began to make its appearance. The snake poison had worked all through the cancer, the swelling disappeared, and the heretofore ugly looking cancer began to heal, and turned to a healthy flesh color.

To the joy of the patient and her family, the wound began to heal, and the other day Mrs. Ludwig was in town, almost cured.

Cutting Up a King's Yacht.

Hackensack, N. J.—The famous yacht Hildegarde, in its day one of the finest craft afloat, built in 1874 to the order of the prince of Wales, now king of Great Britain, at a cost of $80,000, is being cut to pieces in Hackensack river here. Its hull, made of Chinese teakwood, is being cut into souvenirs, and one will be sent to King Edward. Walking sticks, collar boxes and paper knives, made from the hull of King Edward's former pleasure craft, soon will be in many Hackensack homes.

WOOLING TERMS ARE MADE.

"Composite Mother" Sends Them to Bachelor

Huron, S. D.—A few weeks ago a number of Westington Springs girls adopted an orphan girl and now are giving her a home. Since the fact became known the girls have received numerous applications to adopt other children, but the most interesting feature of the whole affair is that a wealthy Nebraskan writes offering to marry any one of the 12 foster mothers, and also to adopt and educate the child.

The girls gave the proposition a business-like consideration, and in reply to his letter made a counter proposition. It was that the oldest of the 12 accept his offer of marriage on these conditions:

That he prove that he is sincere.

That he be qualified in every way to contract marriage.

That he is able to provide a comfortable home for his bride and is willing to make provision for her every need and comfort.

That he shall abstain from the use of cigarettes, tobacco and intoxicants.

That he use no profane language.

That he spend his evenings at home.

That he will not flirt with other women and will attend church at least once each Sunday.

The Nebraskan's answer is awaited with interest.

MORE PAY TO GOOD SHOOTERS.

War Department Wants to Encourage Expert Marksmen.

Washington.—Announcement is made at the war department that enlisted men qualified as expert riflemen are entitled to three dollars a month and those qualified as marksmen to one dollar a month, in addition to their pay, from the date of qualification to the close of the next succeeding target year; provided, that during that time they continue to be members of an organization armed with the rifle or to re-enlist in such an organization within three months from the date of their discharge.

If a soldier, having qualified as an expert rifleman, in the next succeeding regular practice season to again qualify as such, he will be entitled to the classification and pay of a sharpshooter until the close of the next succeeding target year following his failure to qualify. The extension of time in which a soldier may qualify is not to exceed three years. Qualification can not be made in the coast artillery nor in bands of any arm of the service.

40,000 STILL THE FIGURES

Reliable Reports From 54 Counties
Give Haskell 36,548 Majority.---
Only Three of Them for Frantz ---
Republicans Still Refuse to Give up.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 19.—From incomplete returns received at the democratic state headquarters, Chairman Thompson's estimate made Tuesday night of 40,000 for Haskell and the state democratic ticket appears to have been conservative. They have what is relied upon as conservative reports from fifty-four counties giving the ticket 36,548 majority. Of these only three counties show majorities for Frantz. Alfalfa is republican by 250, Logan by 900, and Oklahoma county, where the republicans relied for their greatest strength is locally estimated to be against Haskell by about 300 at the lead. It is a Chairman Thompson's estimate that the republicans have only majorities in seven counties, Alfalfa, Oklahoma, Logan, Garfield, Wagoner, and Blaine, with Sequoyah county doubtful. The incomplete county majorities published are: Atoka 500, Beckham 100, Bryan 2,000, Caddo 350, Carter 1,500, Canadian 350, Cherokee 300, Choctaw 200, Coal 700, Comanche 500, Craig 450, Custer 400, Garvin 1,600, Grady 1,720, Grant 250, Greer 2,000, Hughes 53, Jackson 1,500, John-

From the republican headquarters the claim of a Frantz victory is still being made, but comparatively little other information is given. Chairman Hunter states that information from the southern part of the state shows Frantz to be ahead of the ticket. They say reliable reports are awaited from the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nation before detailed statement will be made. The Creek and Cherokee nations are claimed by the republican committee as being for Frantz. Haskell is given but four counties in Oklahoma according to the committee, they being Roger Mills, Cleveland, Beckham, and Kiowa.

I. HARRIS

Clothier and Gents Furnisher

A well known club man likes nothing better than to hunt big game in British Columbia. During his last expedition to that region he was in camp with a friend from Minnesota. Toward morning, says the New Yorker, he awoke shivering with the cold. The fire was very low. His companion was fast asleep. It isn't nice to get out of a warm blanket to roll frosty logs to the fire, so the wily New Yorker gave his friend a kick and then pretended to be asleep. There was no response, and presently the man from New York tried another kick. At this westerner broke into a laugh. "I did the same thing to you twenty minutes ago," he explained, "and that's how you came to be awake." Then, of course, both turned out to build a fire.—Lippincott's

ARE FARMERS CAPITALISTS.

One of the things which the capitalists are trying to fix upon the minds of the farmers at present is the idea that they are capitalists and not laborers. They see a disposition on the part of the producers to side with the laboring classes in their stand against foreign immigration and in a desire to control or wipe out monopoly. In order to convert the farmer to a belief that he is himself a capitalist, all the forces of plutocracy have been put to work to make out that the farmer is rich in everything. He is depicted as living in a modern palace and riding in automobiles or in his own private railway coach. He takes in the summer resorts in summer and goes south in the winter. The Oregonian, of Portland, Oregon, in the first paper to come out openly with a proposition of this kind. It says:

"The farmer has always been thought of as a laboring man, and to a great extent his work has been classed as unskilled labor. His interests, and therefore his sympathies, have been in general, identical with laboring men of other walks of life. In controversies that have arisen from time to time between the large employers of labor and the employees, it has always been assumed, and has generally been true, that the farmers hoped to see victory perched upon the banners of the employees. Though the farmer has been an employer of labor, his attitude and relations toward his employees are different from those maintained by the manufacturer, the railroad company or the construction concern. He works in the field beside his hired man, eats at the same table with him, and in all things meet him upon a common plane.

"But the past year or two has wrought a change of conditions which have long prevailed. The farmer has found difficulty in procuring help, and the laboring man, realizing the strength of his position, has held up the farm owner for higher wages than the farmer could afford to pay. The dairy farmer has sought help only to be rewarded by a contemptuous refusal when the suggestion of milking is made. Grubbing stumps is too low a class of work for the farm employee of today. The wage earner on the farm has by force of circumstances become a dictator, and the employer must take care lest he offend the hired help and lose them in a critical time. The farmer has been brought to a realization of the fact that he is a capitalist with a large investment in a property which employs labor and now he must manage carefully if he hopes to make the gross receipts from his farm pay a net profit after giving farm labor the share it demands and exacts. Quite naturally the farmer will take a different view of labor problems—a view determined by his own interests. He is no longer a laboring man—he is a capitalist."

Now there are farmers and farmers, just as there are business men and business men. The business man who runs a store in a country town, and who does his own work to a great extent, has found out that his interests are not the same as those of the great department houses in Chicago, because his business prosperity depends on his labor while that of the Chicago house is based on capital. The same principle applies to farming. The capitalist farmer who can employ Chinese or Japanese and sit in the house while drawing profits forced from the workers who are allowed to farm his broad acres has entirely different interests from those of the farmer who must combine brawn with brain in the production of wealth. The broad-acre, capitalist farmer is slowly, but surely, becoming a thing of the past, and farmers will have to depend on their own efforts and on improved machinery to do their work. The question at present is not how cheaply they can produce wealth by hiring cheap workers, but how to reduce the cost by scientific farming, and how to get an equitable and comparatively fair price for the product of their labor.

Some of our farm papers are busy trying to convince the farmers that they should become, and should consider themselves employers instead of producers, but the average farmer knows that his prosperity depends more upon the wages he receives as a laborer, based upon the price of his product, than it does upon his profits as a capitalist derived from taxing those whom he employs to produce wealth.

Our government is limiting the amount of land that can be owned by one man in the irrigation districts and it is of vastly more importance that all the people should have an opportunity to obtain good homes than that a law should be enacted to increase their prosperity by hiring cheap labor. Cheap labor means large holdings and destructive methods of farming. High priced labor means economical production and fair prices.

The Oregonian has always been noted for trying to keep up a separate capitalist class, and works for that class. At the same time it has some good and liberal ideas in relation to many things. It is very inconsistent, however, about many things.—Up-to-Date Farming.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NEXT.

That the constitution has carried by heavy majority appears to be certain and the next move in the travail will be to present the organic law of the new state to President Roosevelt for his endorsement or rejection upon his judgment solely as to whether or not it conforms to the enabling act of congress and does not conflict with the constitution of the United States.

His duty in this matter is perfunctory and it is hardly probable that there is anything in the constitution that would give the national executive a sufficient reason for its rejection. Some flimsy partisan pretext for rejecting the organic act might be resorted to, but this narrowness is not attributed to President Roosevelt even by persons of opposite political faith. The republican leaders of the new state do expect it of him, or they would not have nominated a state ticket. The latest hope on their part, of defeating statehood vanished when the people of Oklahoma and Indian Territory endorsed the constitution at the polls.

The president will approve the constitution. To reject it would be a partisan crime that would cause the entire nation to raise its voice in protest.

When War Is Better Than Peace.

From the Reader.

There are higher ideals even than those of peace. Such are the ideals of humanity, as we did in the case of Cuba. And President Roosevelt, has recently again called attention to the fact that there is always a possibility of conflict between the ideal of peace and justice.

Moreover, there are questions affecting the life and growth of a nation, questions affecting its sense of dignity, honor and conscience of moral worth, questions affecting the welfare of the race and the future interests of civilization which can in no wise be submitted to arbitration, at least for the present. The United States will never consent to arbitrate any question endangering the existence of the Monroe doctrine, neither England, Russia nor Japan could be induced to delegate the Hague tribunal the settlement of their commercial rivalries in the far East. It does not follow that such questions must be decided by the arbitrament of the God of Battles, but they are not proper subjects for judicial arbitration.

However, there seems to be questions whose Gordian knot cannot be cut except by the sword. Now, for example, would it have been possible to drive General Weyler out of starving and dying Cuba unless by the use of force? How could the unity of modern Germany or Italy have been accomplished or the independence of the Dutch or American republics have been established except at the cost of war and sacrifice of human life? How can the U. S. alien parasites who feed like locusts upon the native population of South-eastern Europe ever be driven out unless at the point of the bayonet?

On the one hand the earth has been drenched with the blood of those who have died for the sake of the lust of luxury and conquest or the greed of avarice and ambition. Millions have died in unworthy and ignoble causes, and millions more have been sacrificed in causes which, however good or just in themselves, might have been settled by diplomacy, meditation or arbitration.

Why the Nations Cannot Disarm.

From the Reader.

Wedge in for a generation between France, Russia and Germany has forced others as well as herself to bear military burdens beyond a parallel in history. Checked and thwarted at many turns in her commercial and colonial aims by England, she has created a great navy, and has outlined a naval program which threatens to put even British willingness to bear enormous naval expenditures to a severe test. Relieved for a time by the Russo-Japanese war of the fear of Russian pressure on the eastern frontier, the German empire has finally been surrounded through British diplomacy by a network of alliances, until it stands practically isolated in Europe. To ask Germany to reduce or even limit her armaments under these conditions would be like asking a soldier to abandon his weapons when surrounded by enemies.

Unless Germany takes the initial step, France cannot disarm with safety to her prestige and interests. It might be that her very life would be endangered. Neither Italy or Austria are in position to follow an independent policy of their own in this matter, although it may be that Italy could afford to suffer loss of prestige and disarm under a guarantee of the powers. But it is likely that Germany would object.

Only Great Britain, the United States and the smaller and weaker states of Europe and America can, under the present conditions, afford to dispense with large standing armies; but England and the United States must, at is critical, least for the present, rely upon large and powerful navies for the protection of their interests and for the sake of their prestige.

Shortage in Railroad Ties Predicted.

Washington—Shortage in railroad ties is becoming a serious problem to the railroads of the United States. Only recently the forestry bureau of the department of agriculture predicted a lumber famine in the country in seventy-five years if the present consumption of lumber was maintained under the present conditions of preservation of the forests, and manufacture of out-put. When it is realized that the railroads used last year 103,000,000 railroad ties, averaging about 90 broad feet each, and that this number of ties aggregate more than 3,000,000,000 broad feet, or one-twelfth of the sawed lumber produced in the entire country in one year, the problem can be better understood. That such a shortage has been foreseen by the railroads is manifested by their almost frantic efforts in the past to find a substitute for wood from which to make railroad ties. A few years ago a steel tie was invented.

The Pay of Revivalists.

From the American Magazine.

Successful evangelists get big pay nowadays. The Rev. "Billy" Sunday received $3,600 for a few weeks' work in Fairfield, Iowa. "I think the people who work for Christ ought to be enabled to live as well as those who work for the devil," says Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Lyon, who held meetings for a month in Oberlin, Ohio, stipulated that he was to receive no pay except that which was freely given him at the three last meetings. The contribution taken for his benefit yielded him $1,800, which is as much as the average Oberlin professor receives for a year's work.

The Rev. Mr. Freuder of Philadelphia, tells the story of himself.

Some time ago I was invited to dine at the house of a friend, whose wife went into the kitchen to give some final orders. Incidentally, she added to the servant, "We have a Jewish rabbit for dinner today."

For a minute the maid surveyed her mistress in grim silence. Then she spoke with decision. "All I have to say is," she announced, "if you have a Jewish rabbit for dinner you'll cook it yourself."—Lippincott's.

STATEHOOD A FACT IN 30 DAYS

Oklahoma will become a state in reality within thirty days, if the president signs the constitution.

The county commissioners of the various counties of the new state have various days in which to canvass the vote and certify to the state election board, in Guthrie.

As soon as the returns are all reported to the state election board, according to the provisions of the territorial statutes, the state election board must canvass them, decide all precincts, and certify the result to the president at Washington.

From the date on which the certified result of the Oklahoma election reaches him the president has 20 days in which to either sign or reject the proposed constitution of the new state. Republicans have insisted that Roosevelt will not sign the constitution in H. Flisk.

its present form. Under the provisions of the law he must make his decision within twenty days from the time the document reaches him.

Prohibition becomes effective at the time the president signs the constitution. There will be no delays, and there are sufficient statutory provisions for the enforcement of the law during the time that will intervene between the signing of the constitution and the opening session of the legislature. Saloon men have hoped to postpone the enforcement of the provision on prohibition until the legislature convenes, hoping to get some relief from this body, but this will not be done.—Oklahoman.

Plunge Into Sacred Tank

An Indian diving from a 50-foot tower into a sacred tank at Delhi. An authority on Indian matters informs us that it is doubtful whether the Indians who dive into the tanks do so as part of a religious rite or not. He himself has never heard the diving described as part of any rite. He has little doubt, however, that the divers have to pay for the privilege of diving into the tanks of the temples, and that some of their gains go into the pockets of the priests.

SNEEZE FAD THE LATEST.

GIRL ACCIDENTALLY STARTS NEW DIVERSION IN JERSEY

Was a Victim of Hay Fever—Queer New Frolic at Summer Resort Guaranteed to Drive Away Blues

New York—There are all sorts of epidemics at summer colonies. There is the embroidery epidemic, the croquet epidemic, both flourishing best in piazza surroundings. Then of more active variety there is the epidemic of tennis, croquet, shuffleboard and others more prevalent among the "young folks" than with the piazza coterie. But it was left to the colonists at a small lake in northern New Jersey to discover the joys of sneezing. There the sneezing epidemic developed. It all happened in this way. A young woman who arrived one morning at the little country station was a hay fever victim. On her drive from the station to the lakeside cottage where she was to stop she passed through field after field of new mown hay and as is the custom of hay fever victims she began to sneeze. All through that drive she sneezed. She frightened the horse, she frightened her friend who was driving who thought she would gradually use up all her strength in those uncontrollable sneezes. She frightened herself for she had never been in such an uncomfortable state. They drove to the village drug store and there she asked the village doctor for some remedy. He advised a certain kind of medical snuff, and she quickly inhaled it in a bottle. That was the beginning of the epidemic. It got to be a joke the way she sneezed, but always after the volley of sneezes consequent to the snuff taking she would be free for a while.

When she found that she was amusing her friends she wanted some of the same kind of amusement herself and prevailed on some of the younger members of the family to join in her sneezing and try her bottle. They rather enjoyed it and the various kinds of sneezes caused so much merriment that it soon became a daily performance to pass around the bottle and have a sneeze frolic.

Some young people came over the lake in their canoes one night. There were ten of them and they all sat on the piazza and talked lake gossip. They were finally told about the new habit, and as young people in the country are usually ready for any new experience, they consented to try. Soon there arose such a hubbub as was seldom heard on the quiet summer nights there. Mingled with laughter came the sneezes and gasps, thick and fast. It lasted for five minutes or more with an occasional spasm from some one with a special propensity for sneezing long after the others had stopped.

Where did you say you got that? asked one enthusiastic young guest in the village, and they all went away in their canoes still laughing.

The next day four bottles of the stuff were bought and four cottages were supplied. From then on it was no uncommon thing for the silent padleis who canoed along the moonlit lake to hear all along the shore at the different bungalows and cottages the wild volleys of sneezes and the roars of laughter that always accompanied them. New victims were continually arriving and these were especially interesting to those who had become accustomed to the new art.

It soon developed into a science. Some progressive and thoughtful young man made a sneeze book in which he carefully noted all the different kinds of sneezes and wrote down the characteristics of the owners. It got to be as popular as a palmistry book. More books were copied from this one and finally character reading became a case of sneeze and I'll tell you what you are.

The sneeze epidemic has not passed yet at this New Jersey resort, and he it harmful or otherwise it has certainly been the cause of enough laughs to drive away indigestion and the blues.

Drunkens Bees Torment City.
Pasadena, Cal.—Scores of angry citizens have made complaint to the authorities that bees and flies intoxicated on fermented orange juice have become a nuisance that should be abolished. They say that the proprietors of a nursery near the town have a large force of Japanese employed extracting seeds from partly decayed oranges and in the process of squeezing the seeds from the oranges a small stream of orange juice flows from the place which attracts millions of flies and bees, which become intemperate. The nursery uses the seeds for planting.

MAKES GOOD WINDOW SEAT.

How Old Fashioned Walnut Parlor Chair May Be Utilized.

When you have one of the old fashioned walnut parlor chairs with carved legs you can, with the addition of a kitchen chair, make a neat window seat or couch for a den.

Remove upholstering and springs from the parlor chair. This forms the back which you saw off and attach the front legs to a hollow square which makes the frame for seat. Saw off the pair of front legs just where they are joined to side strip leaving what were the front legs and front of seat intact. Saw off the back piece of the square where it joins the sides and you have the back legs, separated but each is attached to the side piece which formerly connected them with the front. Attach each side piece with its corresponding back leg to the front so that you have four front legs for your settee the two middle being the former front legs of the chair the two end ones being the former back legs. Treat the kitchen chair similarly and you have four back legs, stain to match front if possible. Join front to back by strip of two by four or other strong pieces nail boards close together for seat. Cover with velvet, silk or old quilt, over which nail with brass tacks a pretty cover. An old portiere, cretonne or even a pretty piece of old carpet or rug will do. Let the cover fall over in front to hide the rough work.

TO MAKE BAKED CUSTARDS

Dish That Should Be Prepared Early in the Morning

Early in the morning make small individual baked custards as follows: Bring a quart of milk to a boil in a sure sweetener in your custards. Beat five eggs to a froth, white and yolks separately. If you like the custard sweet allow a scant tablespoon of granulated sugar for each egg and beat this firmly into the yolks. Add to the boiled milk a scant teaspoonful of melted butter and a dash of salt. Pour the hot milk over the yolks of the eggs, beat in the whites lightly add a teaspoonful of vanilla pour into custard cups and bake 20 or 30 minutes set in a pan of boiling water. At dinner time they should be very cold. Run a smooth knife around the inside of each cup and the custard can be turned out in a firm even shape. Have ready a sweet jelly which you have melted over the fire, or else some fresh fruit juice strained and flavored. Pour this over the custard molds as a sauce and serve cold.

FOR A TART DESSERT.

Lemon Custard is a Most Welcome Summer Dish

A tart dessert is most welcome in summer. Try this lemon custard, which is precisely like the filling used for pie but much more tasty without the crust. Three cups of water, brought to a boil and thickened with three tablespoons of corn starch rubbed smooth in cold water. Sweeten with two small cups of granulated sugar bring to a boil again and add two tablespoons of butter the grated rind of two lemons and the juice strained clear of three. Cook for a few minutes. Add three eggs beaten very light pour into a pudding mold and bake until set about 20 minutes. If you prefer mix with the yolks of eggs only with boiling water and reserve the whites for a meringue beating them stiff with three tablespoons of powdered sugar and allowing the meringue to bake to a golden brown.

Rye Muffins

Put one quart of water in a granite kettle when it boils put in one quarter of a teaspoonful of soda then sprinkle in (evenly) one cup of rye meal (not flour). Add a heaping tablespoonful of butter one cup of sugar and salt. When cool add one half of a yeast cake and stir in all the flour you can for it grows thin as it rises. If desired use two thirds of a cup of molasses instead of sugar. The rye meal can be increased to quantity if preferred. This is an old and quite famous bread.

Sage Tea Tonic.

Green tea, two ounces, garden sage, two ounces, put in a saucepan which can be covered closely and pour over the herbs three quarts of boiling water. Let simmer until reduced one-third. Take off the fire and let stand for 24 hours strain and bottle, apply every night before retiring. Dry well or the tonic will stain the pillow.

Oilcloth Sewing Rug

Keep a square of table oilcloth to lay under the machine when sewing. Endeavor to have all the threads and ravelings from ripping fall on the rug so that all the litter may be removed on a moment's notice. This is especially convenient where one has to do the sewing in the living room.

Shelled Beans

Soak and cook as usual kidney or cranberry beans. When tender, pour off the water, add sour cream to thoroughly moisten and simmer half an hour. The alkali in the beans removes the acid taste from the cream and the resulting combination is particularly good.

Fried Tomatoes and Eggs

Cut some thick slices of tomato, dip each into flour seasoned with salt and pepper, and fry. Make some rounds of toast; butter these, lay the tomatoes on them, and put a poached egg on each; sprinkle with chopped parsley.—Harper's Bazar.

Spain's Royal Infant

First portrait of King Alfonso's son and heir, the Prince of Asturias shown in the arms of the Countess of Puerto; the new crown prince is thriving wonderfully and is said by the court physician to be in perfect health. The baby is gaining in weight rapidly and has developed in intelligence to such an extent that he recognizes his parents and prefers their society, for in the rare occasions when state affairs do not take them away from him. In spite of the fact that he is attended by a corps of nurses the royal infant is in no danger of being spoiled, and is already being taught that he cannot have his own way simply by crying for what he wishes.

TONGUE TIED BY WRIT.

LANDLORD OBTAINS INJUNCTION AGAINST WOMAN.

Man Has Troublesome Tenant Restrained by Court From Speaking to Him or Her Own Husband About Orders

Kalamazoo, Mich.—A Kalamazoo man has at last discovered the way to curb the tongue of woman. His discovery is timely, and the only fear is that the system will be worked overtime.

Frank B. Morris, who owns a farm near this city, employed Irve Savage to work it. Savage has a wife, claimed to be all her name implies, and soon after the farmhand and his wife had taken possession of the tenant cottage on the farm Mrs. Savage discovered that she did not like the owner.

The dislike grew and finally reached Mrs. Morris. The landowner claimed that during his and his wife's visits to their farm to oversee the work and give orders Mrs. Savage made life miserable for them. Consulting an attorney he was advised to make application for an injunction.

Morris followed the advice and his petition was presented to Judge John W. Adams. In it he charged that Mrs. Savage has an uncontrollable temper and frequently used coarse language in his presence and that of his wife.

The woman was also alleged to have influenced her husband not to carry out the orders given by Morris and the landowner prayed the court that Mrs. Savage be enjoined from speaking to either himself or wife on the farm or on the street. Also that she be restrained from interfering with her husband carrying out the orders his employer issued.

The injunction was issued and the court's order was served on Mrs. Savage. By its provisions she cannot, without being in contempt of court, leave the lot which surrounds the tenant's cottage nor can she speak to Mr. and Mrs. Morris.

Enraged by the order, Mrs. Savage

packed her belongings and moved away from the farm. Before going, however, she pulled up every growing plant in the garden she had made. While the Savages have left the Morris farm the court's order stands, and Mrs. Savage must not speak as she passes her husband's former employer on the streets.

DREAM MADE HER BREAK NECK.

In Turning Girl Dislocated Vertebrae—Surgeons Reset Them.

Camden, N. J.—Dreaming of bears, the traditional bugaboos of childhood, ten year old Olga Bennett of South Second street was frightened so badly by a vision of the beasts pursuing her that she turned suddenly and dislocated her neck. The pain of the dislocation awakened her and she called loudly for help. Her parents rushed to her bedside and tried to allay her fears, but she continued to scream until she fainted from the pain.

When the older folks attempted to revive her they noticed that her head hung limp from her body. Not understanding what could all the child they called in a physician. He saw immediately that her neck was dislocated. An ambulance was called and she was hurried to the Homeopathic hospital, where a careful examination of the injury was made. It was found impossible to make any progress in giving the girl even temporary relief until the X-rays were used. With their aid an attempt was made to replace the dislocated vertebrae.

The first few attempts were unsuccessful, and the surgeons were in despair of saving the child's life, but finally an attempt was made which is thought to have been successful. With the aid of a harness the girl's head has been put in position and held there. It will be several days, however, before it is known what the results of the peculiar accident will be. In the meantime the case is being watched with much interest by the medical profession of this and neighboring cities.

ONE-HALF OF HIS BONES REMOVED.

Man Lives Ten Months After Remarkable Operation.

Detroit, Mich.—George J. Schwartz, aged 31, died after living ten months without any bones on the right side of his body, lying flat on his back during the entire time, his fight against death for nearly a year providing a new wonder for the world of medicine.

Mr. Schwartz was afflicted with a tumor three years ago. He underwent an operation. This was unsuccessful and three other operations followed within the two years following. Last summer his condition became so serious that his physicians decided another operation was all that could prolong his life.

A like attempt had never been performed. Physicians found that all the bones on the right side of the trunk were diseased and must be removed to insure a continuance of life. The operation was held Oct. 3 last at the Detroit sanitarium, and was witnessed by physicians from all over Michigan, medical students and members of the medical profession from adjoining states. All the ribs on the right side, the collar bone, the breastbone, part of the hip and shoulder blade were removed and the patient was left without any frame for his right side.

Mr. Schwartz recovered, but was never able to lie in any other position than on his back. His fortitude was declared marvelous by all physicians under whose notice the patient came. No one who witnessed the operation thought he would survive. For some time past his death was momentarily expected, but he constantly rallied until the battle against the final end had exhausted all strength.

SWAINS FIGHT FOR SAME GIRL.

"You Win! I Love Her, but I'll Keep Away," Says Loser.

New York—Frank Jordan and Thomas Sullivan, two young men from Harlem, love the same girl, and as they could not settle the matter peacefully they fought five rounds on the banks of Mott Haven creek, the Bronx, with the agreement that the winner was to take the girl.

Jordan won by a knockout, and when Sullivan had been revived he shook hands with his opponent and said: "You win! I love the girl, but I'll keep my word."

About a hundred persons witnessed the fight, having accompanied the gladiators from Harlem. The boys stripped to the waist, and with Michael Hurley as referee and Frederick Cope as timekeeper, went at it according to the rules of Queensberry rules, except that they used bare fists.

Just as Jordan delivered the knockout the police arrived, and the spectators literally took to the woods, scattering in every direction. The name of the girl was not divulged, but the way the boys went at each other showed that they were very much in love.

SNAKE BITE TO CURE CANCER

Woman's Remarkable Experience Suggests a New Remedy.

Port Jervis, N. Y.—A remarkable cure of cancer has been effected on Mrs. Wilhelmina Ludwig, a farmer's wife, who resides several miles back of Millrift, in Pike county, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Ludwig has been a sufferer from a cancer on her left leg, just above the knee for a long time. The disease had advanced until a spot about six inches long by three wide was developed.

While out picking huckleberries two weeks ago she was bitten on the leg by rattlesnakes. Her nephew, Karl Ludwig, came to her assistance and killed three rattlesnakes which by their appearance had just shed their skins.

Before the doctor came the woman's leg had swelled to an enormous size. A remarkable thing about the case was that the swelling did not go above the spot where the cancer was located. The physician said he could do nothing on account of the cancer, and that the woman would die.

And now comes the remarkable point in the case. The cancer, which had always had the appearance of ink, fringed with red turned into a running sore.

It remained in this condition for four days. On the fourth day the discharge stopped and proud flesh began to make its appearance. The snake poison had worked all through the cancer, the swelling disappeared, and the heretofore ugly looking cancer began to heal, and turned to a healthy flesh color.

To the joy of the patient and her family, the wound began to heal, and the other day Mrs. Ludwig was in town, almost cured.

Cutting Up a King's Yacht.
Hackensack, N. J.—The famous yacht Hildegarde, in its day one of the finest craft afloat, built in 1874 to the order of the prince of Wales, now king of Great Britain, at a cost of $80,000, is being cut to pieces in Hackensack river here. Its hull, made of Chinese teakwood, is being cut into souvenirs, and one will be sent to King Edward. Walking sticks, collar boxes and paper knives, made from the hull of King Edward's former pleasure craft, soon will be in many Hackensack homes.

40,000 STILL THE FIGURES

Reliable Reports From 54 Counties
Give Haskell 36,548 Majority.---
Only Three of Them for Frantz ---
Republicans Still Refuse to Give up.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 19.—From incomplete returns received at the democratic state headquarters, Chairman Thompson's estimate made Tuesday night of 40,000 for Haskell and the state democratic ticket appears to have been conservative. They have what is relied upon as conservative reports from fifty-four counties giving the ticket 36,548 majority. Of these only three counties show majorities for Frantz. Alfalfa is republican by 250, Logan by 900, and Oklahoma county, where the republicans relied for their greatest strength is locally estimated to be against Haskell by about 300 at the lead. It is Chairman Thompson's estimate that the republicans have only majorities in seven counties, Alfalfa, Oklahoma, Logan, Garfield, Wagoner, and Blaine, with Sequoyah county doubtful.

The incomplete county majorities publicly posted are: Atoka 500, Beckham 100, Bryan 2,000, Caddo 350, Carter 1,590, Canadian 350, Cherokee 800, Choctaw 200, Coal 700, Comanche 500, Craig 450, Custer 400, Garvin 1,500, Grady 1,720, Grant 250, Greer 2,000, Hughes 53, Jackson 1,500, Johnson 1,500, Kingfisher 150, Kiowa 700, Latimer 250, Cleveland 700, LeFlore 1,300, Lincoln 200, Love 873, McClain 900, McCurtain 300, McIntosh 300, Marshall 802, Mayes 600, Murray 800, Muskogee 300, Nowata 30, Okmulgee 100, Osage 450, Payne 250, Pawnee 250, Pittsburg 1,250, Pontotoc 1,600, Pushmataha 500, Pottawatomie 1,500, Rogers 600, Seminole 150, Stephens 1,250, Texas 350, Tillman 1,000, Tulsa 400, Washita 800, Washington 35, and Woods 40.

From the republican headquarters the claim of a Frantz victory is still being made, but comparatively little other information is given. Chairman Hunter states that information from the southern part of the state show Frantz to be ahead of the ticket. They say reliable reports are awaited from the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nation before detailed statement will be made. The Creek and Cherokee nations are claimed by the republican committee as being for Frantz. Haskell is given but four counties in Oklahoma according to the committee, they being: Roger Mills, Cleveland, Beckham, Kiowa.

I. HARRIS

Clothier and Gents Furnisher

A well known club man likes nothing better than to hunt big game in British Columbia. During his last expedition to that region he was in camp with a friend from Minnesota. Toward morning, says the New Yorker, he awoke shivering with the cold. The fire was very low. His companion was fast asleep. It isn't nice to get out of a warm blanket to roll frosty logs to the fire, so the wily New Yorker gave his friend a kick and then pretended to be asleep. There was no response, and presently the man from New York tried another kick. At this westerner broke into a laugh. "I did the same thing to you twenty minutes ago," he explained, "and that's how you came to be awake." Then of course, both turned out to build a fire.—Lippincott's

LITTLE DAUGHTER DROWNED

Two Year old Child of H. C. Farrell Falls Into a Small Stream and Drowns.---Mother Overcome With Grief.

Mourning for her child, news of the children, including little Ruth, whose death by drowning had just been received, at noon Thursday, a mother created considerable excitement on Main street by her manifestations of grief.

H. C. Farrell and wife earlier in the day had come to town from their home six miles southwest, seeking medical treatment for a child. The parents were in the office of Dr. King when an older child came hurrying into town with the sad tidings.

ARE FARMERS CAPITALISTS.

One of the things which the capitalists are trying to fix upon the minds of the farmers at present is the idea that they are capitalists and not laborers. They see a disposition on the part of the producers to side with the laboring classes in their stand against foreign immigration and in a desire to control or wipe out monopoly. In order to convert the farmer to a belief that he is himself a capitalist, all the forces of plutocracy have been put to work to make out that the farmer is rich in everything. He is depicted as living in a modern palace and riding in automobiles or in his own private railway coach. He takes in the summer resorts in summer and goes south in the winter. The Oregonian, of Portland, Oregon, is the first paper to come out openly with a proposition of this kind. It says:

"The farmer has always been thought of as a laboring man, and to a great extent his work has been classed as unskilled labor. His interests, and therefore his sympathies, have been in general, identical with laboring men of other walks of life. In controversies that have arisen from time to time between the large employers of labor and the employees, it has always been assumed, and has generally been true, that the farmers hoped to see victory perched upon the shoulders of the employees. Though the farmer has been an employer of labor, his attitude and relations toward his employees are different from those maintained by the manufacturer, the railroad company or the construction concern. He works in the field beside his hired man, eats at the same table with him, and in all things meet him upon a common plane.

"But the past year or two has wrought a change of conditions which have long prevailed. The farmer has found difficulty in procuring help, and the laboring man, realizing the strength of his position, has held up the farm owner for higher wages than the farmer could afford to pay. The dairy farmer has sought help only to be rewarded by a contemptuous refusal when the suggestion of milking is made. Grubbing stumps is too low a class of work for the farm employee of today. The wage earner on the farm has by force of circumstances become a dictator, and the employer must take care lest he offend the hired help and lose them in a critical time. The farmer has been brought to a realization of the fact that he is a capitalist with a large investment in a property which employs labor and now he must manage carefully if he hopes to make the gross receipts from his farm pay a net profit after giving farm labor the share it demands and expects. Quite naturally the farmer will take a different view of labor problems—a view determined by his own interests. He is no longer a laboring man—he is a capitalist."

Now there are farmers and farmers, just as there are business men and business men. The business man who runs a store in a country town, and who does his own work to a great extent, has found out that his interests are not the same as those of the great department houses in Chicago, because his business prosperity depends on his labor while that of the Chicago house is based on capital. The same principle applies to farming. The capitalist farmer who can employ Chinese or Japanese and sit in the house while drawing profits forced from the workers who are allowed to farm his broad acres has entirely different interests from those of the farmer who must combine brawn with brain in the production of wealth. The broad-acre, capitalist farmer is slowly, but surely, becoming a thing of the past, and farmers will have to depend on their own efforts and on improved machinery to do their work. The question at present is not how cheaply they can produce wealth by hiring cheap workers, but how to reduce the cost by scientific farming, and how to get an equitable and comparatively fair price for the product of their labor.

Some of our farm papers are busy trying to convince the farmers that they should become, and should consider themselves employers instead of producers, but the average farmer knows that his prosperity depends more upon the wages he receives as a laborer, based upon the price of his product, than it does upon his profits as a capitalist derived from taxing those whom he employs to produce wealth.

Our government is limiting the amount of land that can be owned by one man in the irrigation districts and it is of vastly more importance that all the people should have an opportunity to obtain good homes than that a few should be enabled to increase their prosperity by hiring cheap labor. Cheap labor means large holdings and destructive methods of farming. High priced labor means economical production and fair prices.

The Oregonian has always been noted for trying to keep up a separate capitalist class, and works for that class. At the same time it has some good and liberal ideas in relation to many things. It is very inconsistent, however, about many things.—Up-to-Date Farming.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NEXT.

That the constitution has carried by heavy majority appears to be certain and the next move in the travail will be to present the organic law of the new state to President Roosevelt for his endorsement or rejection upon his judgment solely as to whether or not it conforms to the enabling act of congress and does not conflict with the constitution of the United States.

His duty in this matter is perfunctory and it is hardly probable that there is anything in the constitution that would give the national executive a sufficient reason for its rejection. Some flimsy partisan pretext for rejecting the organic act might be resorted to, but this narrowness is not attributed to President Roosevelt even by persons of opposite political faith. The republican leaders of the new state do expect it of him, or they would not have nominated a state ticket. The latest hope on their part of defeating statehood vanished when the people of Oklahoma and Indian Territory endorsed the constitution at the polls.

The president will approve the constitution. To reject it would be a partisan crime that would cause the entire nation to raise its voice in protest.

GREAT INTERURBAN SYSTEM

Planned to Traverse the State.—Five Millions Capital.—From Wewoka to Ada Part of the System.

Guthrie, Sept. 19.—The Oklahoma Central Interurban Railway, Telephone, Light and Power company, with $5,000,000 capital stock and headquarters at South McAlester and Oklahoma City, was chartered yesterday for the purpose of building an electric line westward from McAlester via Holdenville, Wewoka, Shawnee, Oklahoma City, El Reno, Geary and Weatherford to Cheyenne in Roger Mills county, a distance of 500 miles at a cost of $17,000 per mile. Branch lines are provided as follows:

Northwest from McAlester to Cheyenne and Muskogee and south to Atoka and Durant; from Holdenville north to Okemah and Okmulgee, from Wewoka south to Ada; and from Shaw-

When War Is Better Than Peace.

From the Reader.

There are higher ideals even than those of peace. Such are the ideals of humanity, as we did in the case of Cuba. And President Roosevelt, has recently again called attention to the fact that there is always a possibility of conflict between the ideal of peace and justice.

Moreover, there are questions affecting the life and growth of a nation, questions affecting its sense of dignity, honor and conscience of moral worth, questions affecting the welfare of the race and the future interests of civilization which can in no wise be submitted to arbitration, at least for the present. The United States will never consent to arbitrate any question endangering the existence of the Monroe doctrine, neither England, Russia nor Japan could be induced to delegate the Hague tribunal the settlement of their commercial rivalries in the far East. It does not follow that such questions must be decided by the arbitrament of the God of Battles, but they are not proper subjects for judicial arbitration.

However, there seems to be questions whose Gordian knot cannot be cut except by the sword. Now, for example, would it have been possible to drive General Weyler out of starting and dying Cuba unless by the use of force? How could the unity of modern Germany or Italy have been accomplished or the independence of the Dutch or American republics have been established except at the cost of war and sacrifice of human life? How can the T. kien parasites who feed like locusts upon the native population of South-eastern Europe ever be driven out unless it be at the point of the bayonet?

On the one hand the earth has been despoiled with a blood of those who have died in vain. On the other hand, the lust of luxury and conquest or the greed of avarice and ambition. Millions have died in unworthy and ignoble causes, and millions more have been sacrificed in causes which, however good or just in themselves, might have been settled by diplomacy, meditation or arbitration.

Why the Nations Cannot Disarm.

From the Reader.

Wedge in for a generation between France Russia and Germany has forced others as well as herself to bear military burdens beyond a parallel in history. Checked and thwarted at many turns in her commercial and colonial aims by England, she has created a great navy, and has outlined a naval program which threatens to put even British willingness to bear enormous naval expenditures to a severe test. Relieved for a time by the Russo-Japanese war of the fear of Russian pressure on the eastern frontier, the German empire has finally been surrounded through British diplomacy by a network of alliances, until it stands practically isolated in Europe. To ask Germany to reduce or even limit her armaments under these conditions would be like asking a soldier to abandon his weapons when surrounded by enemies.

Unless Germany takes the initial step, France cannot disarm with safety to her prestige and interests. It might be that her very life would be endangered. Neither Italy or Austria are in position to follow an independent policy of their own in this matter, although it may be that Italy could afford to suffer loss of prestige and disarm under a guarantee of the powers. But it is likely that Germany would object.

Only Great Britain, the United States and the smaller and weaker states of Europe and America can, under the present conditions, afford to dispense with large standing armies; but England and the United States must, at is official.

Shortage in Railroad Ties Predicted.

Washington—Shortage in railroad ties is becoming a serious problem to the railroads of the United States. Only recently the forestry bureau of the department of agriculture predicted a lumber famine in the country in seventy-five years if the present consumption of lumber was maintained under the present conditions of preservation of the forests, and manufacture of out-put. When it is realized that the railroads used last year 103,000,000 railroad ties, averaging about 90 broad feet each, and that this number of ties aggregate more than 3,000,000,000 broad feet, or one-twelfth of the sawed lumber produced in the entire country in one year, the problem can be better understood. That such a shortage has been foreseen by the railroads is manifested by their almost frantic efforts in the past to find a substitute for wood from which to make railroad ties. A few years ago a steel tie was invented.

The Pay of Revivalists.

From the American Magazine.

Successful evangelists get big pay nowadays. The Rev. "Billy" Sunday received $3,600 for a few weeks' work in Fairfield, Iowa. "I think the people who work for Christ ought to be enabled to live as well as those who work for the devil," says Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Lyon, who held meetings for a month in Oberlin, Ohio, stipulated that he was to receive no pay except that which was freely given him at the three last meetings. The contribution taken for his benefit yielded him $1,800, which is as much as the average Oberlin professor receives for a year's work.

The Rev. Mr. Freuder of Philadelphia, tells the story of himself.

Some time ago I was invited to dine at the house of a friend, whose wife went into the kitchen to give some final orders. Incidentally, she added to the servant, "We have a Jewish rabbit for dinner today."

For a minute the maid surveyed her mistress in grim silence. Then she spoke with decision. "All I have to say is," she announced, "if you have a Jewish rabbit for dinner you'll cook it yourself."—Lippincott's.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. J. F. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists 75c.

Blinded by Dynamite.

Chandler, Okla., Sept. 19.—John Merritt, chief forester of the Woodman camp of Chandler, had the sight in one eye destroyed entirely and the other so injured that it may also be lost, by a premature explosion of dynamite, while blasting out rock. His condition is critical.

STATEHOOD A FACT IN 30 DAYS

Oklahoma will become a state in reality within thirty days, if the president signs the constitution.

The county commissioners of the various counties of the new state have ten days in which to canvass the vote and certify to the state election board, in Guthrie.

As soon as the returns are all reported to the state election board, according to the provisions of the territorial statutes, the state election board must canvass them, decide all precincts, and certify the result to the president at Washington.

From the date on which the certified result of the Oklahoma election reaches him the president has 20 days in which to either sign or reject the proposed constitution of the new state.

Republicans have insisted that Roosevelt will not sign the constitution in H. Fisk.

its present form. Under the provisions of the law he must make his decision within twenty days from the time the document reaches him. Prohibition becomes effective at the time the president signs the constitution. There will be no delays, and there are sufficient statutory provisions for the enforcement of the law during the time that will intervene between the signing of the constitution and the opening session of the legislature. Saloon men have hoped to postpone the enforcement of the provision on prohibition until the legislature convenes, hoping to get some relief from this body, but this will not be done.—Oklahoman.

Still let us dream, although our dreams have never yet been true. There's never any telling what a change of luck may do.

An Indian diving from a 50-foot tower into a sacred tank at Delhi. An authority on Indian matters informs us that it is doubtful whether the Indians who dive into the tanks do so as part of a religious rite or not. He himself has never heard the diving described as part of any rite. He has little doubt, however, that the divers have to pay for the privilege of diving into the tanks of the temples, and that some of their gains go into the pockets of the priests.

SNEEZE FAD THE LATEST.

GIRL ACCIDENTALLY STARTS NEW DIVERSION IN JERSEY

Was a Victim of Hay Fever—Queer New Frolic at Summer Resort Guaranteed to Drive Away Blues

New York—There are all sorts of epidemics at summer colonies. There is the embroidery epidemic, the croquet epidemic, both flourishing best in piazza surroundings. Then of more active variety there is the epidemic of tennis croquet shuffleboard and others more prevalent among the "young folks" than with the piazza coterie. But it was left to the colonists at a small lake in northern New Jersey to discover the joys of sneezing. There the sneezing epidemic developed. It all happened in this way. A young woman who arrived one morning at the little country station was a hay fever victim. On her drive from the station to the lakeside cottage where she was to stop she passed through field after field of new mown hay and as is the custom of hay fever victims she began to sneeze. All through that drive she sneezed. She frightened the horse, she frightened her friend who was driving who thought she would gradually use up all her strength in those uncontrollable sneezes. She frightened herself for she had never been in such an uncomfortable state.

They drove to the village drug store and there she asked the village doctor for some remedy. He advised a certain kind of medical snuff, and she quickly invested in a bottle. That was the beginning of the epidemic. It got to be a joke the way she sneezed, but always after the volley of sneezes consequent to the snuff taking she would be free for a while.

When she found that she was amusing her friends she wanted some of the same kind of amusement herself and prevailed on some of the younger members of the family to join in her sneezing and try her bottle. They rather enjoyed it and the various kinds of sneezes caused so much merriment that it soon became a daily performance to pass around the bottle and have a sneeze frolic.

Some young people came over the lake in their canoes one night. There were ten of them and they all sat on the piazza and talked lake gossip. They were finally told about the new habit, and as young people in the country are usually ready for any new experience, they consented to try. Soon there arose such a hubbub as was seldom heard on the quiet summer nights there. Mingled with laughter came the sneezes and gasps, thick and fast. It lasted for five minutes or more with an occasional spasm from some one with a special propensity for sneezing long after the others had stopped.

"Where did you say you got that?" asked one enthusiastic young guest in the village, and they all went away in their canoes still laughing.

The next day four bottles of the stuff were bought and four cottages were supplied. From then on it was no uncommon thing for the silent paddlers who canoed along the moonlit lake to hear all along the shore at the different bungalows and cottages the wild volleys of sneezes and the roars of laughter that always accompanied them. New victims were continually arriving and these were especially interesting to those who had become accustomed to the new art.

It soon developed into a science. Some progressive and thoughtful young man made a sneeze book, in which he carefully noted all the different kinds of sneezes and wrote down the characteristics of the owners. It got to be as popular as a palmistry book. More books were copied from this one and finally character reading became a case of "Sneeze and I'll tell you what you are."

The sneeze epidemic has not passed yet at this New Jersey resort, and be it harmful or otherwise it has certainly been the cause of enough laughs to drive away indigestion and the blues.

Drunken Bees Torment City.
Pasadena Cal.—Scores of angry citizens have made complaint to the authorities that bees and flies intoxicated on fermented orange juice have become a nuisance that should be abolished. They say that the proprietors of a nursery near the town have a large force of Japanese employed extracting seeds from partly decayed oranges and in the process of squeezing the seeds from the oranges a small stream of orange juice flows from the place which attracts millions of flies and bees, which become intemperate. The nursery uses the seeds for plant ing she would be free for a while.

FOR A TART DESSERT.
Lemon Custard is a Most Welcome Summer Dish

A tart dessert is most welcome in summer. Try this lemon custard, which is precisely like the filling used for pie but much more tasty without the crust. Three cups of water, brought to a boil and thickened with three tablespoons of corn starch rubbed smooth in cold water. Sweeten with two small cups of granulated sugar bring to a boil again and add two tablespoons of butter the grated rind of two lemons and the juice strained clear of three Cook for a few minutes. Add three eggs beaten very light pour into a pudding mold and bake until set about 20 minutes. If you prefer mix with the yolks of eggs only with boiling water and reserve the whites for a meringue. Beat them stiff with three tablespoons of powdered sugar and allowing the meringue to bake to a golden brown.

Rye Muffins
Put one quart of water in a granite kettle when it boils put in one quarter of a teaspoonful of soda then sprinkle in (evenly) one cup of rye meal (not flour) add a heaping tablespoonful of butter one cup of sugar and salt. When cool add one half of a yeast cake and stir in all the flour you can for it grows thin as it rises. If desired use two thirds of a cup of molasses instead of sugar. The rye meal can be increased in quantity if preferred. This is an old and quite famous bread.

Sage Tea Tonic.
Green tea two ounces, garden sage, two ounces, put in a saucepan which can be covered closely and pour over the herbs three quarts of boiling water. Let simmer until reduced one-third. Take off the fire and let stand for 24 hours strain and bottle, apply every night before retiring. Dry well or the tonic will stain the pillow.

Oilcloth Sewing Rug
Keep a square of table oilcloth to lay under the machine when sewing. Endeavor to have all the threads and ravelings from ripping fall on the rug so that all the litter may be removed on a moment's notice. This is especially convenient where one has to do the sewing in the living room.

Shelled Beans
Soak and cook as usual kidney or cranberry beans. When tender, pour off the water, add sour cream to thoroughly moisten and simmer half an hour. The alkali in the beans removes the acid taste from the cream and the resulting combination is particularly good.

Fried Tomatoes and Eggs.
Cut some thick slices of tomato, dip each into flour seasoned with salt and pepper, and fry. Make some rounds of toast; butter these, lay the tomatoes on them, and put a poached egg on each; sprinkle with chopped parsley.—Harper's Bazar.

Spain's Royal Infant.

First portrait of King Alfonso's son and heir, the Prince of Asturias shown in the arms of the Countess of Puerto; the new crown prince is thriving wonderfully and is said by the court physician to be in perfect health. The baby is gaining in weight rapidly and has developed in intelligence to such an extent that he recognizes his parents and prefers their society. On the rare occasions when state affairs do not take them away from him, in spite of the fact that he is attended by a corps of nurses the royal infant is in no danger of being spoiled, and is already being taught that he cannot have his own way simply by crying for what he wishes.

TONGUE TIED BY WRIT.

LANDLORD OBTAINS INJUNCTION AGAINST WOMAN.

Man Has Troublesome Tenant Restrained by Court From Speaking to Him or Her Own Husband About Orders

Kalamazoo, Mich.—A Kalamazoo man has at last discovered the way to curb the tongue of woman. His discovery is timely, and the only fear is that the system will be worked overtime.

Frank B. Morris, who owns a farm near this city, employed Irve Savage to work it. Savage has a wife, claimed to be all her name implies, and soon after the farmhand and his wife had taken possession of the tenant cottage on the farm Mrs. Savage discovered that she did not like the owner.

The dislike grew and finally reached Mrs. Morris. The landowner claimed that during his and his wife's visits to their farm to oversee the work and give orders Mrs. Savage made life miserable for them. Consulting an attorney he was advised to make application for an injunction.

Morris followed the advice and his petition was presented to Judge John W. Adams. In it he charged that Mrs. Savage has an uncontrollable temper and frequently used coarse language in his presence and that of his wife.

The woman was also alleged to have influenced her husband not to carry out the orders given by Morris and the landowner prayed the court that Mrs. Savage be enjoined from speaking to either himself or wife on the farm or on the street. Also that she be restrained from interfering with her husband carrying out the orders his employer issued.

The injunction was issued and the court's order was served on Mrs. Savage. By its provisions she cannot, without being in contempt of court, leave the lot which surrounds the tenant's cottage nor can she speak to Mr. and Mrs. Morris.

Enraged by the order, Mrs. Savage

packed her belongings and moved away from the farm. Before going, however, she pulled up every growing plant in the garden she had made. While the Savages have left the Morris farm the court's order stands, and Mrs. Savage must not speak as she passes her husband's former employer on the streets.

DREAM MADE HER BREAK NECK.

In Turning Girl Dislocated Vertebrae—Surgeons Reast Them.

Camden, N. J.—Dreaming of bees, the traditional bugaboo of childhood, ten-year-old Olga Bennett of South Second street was frightened so badly by a vision of the bees pursuing her that she turned suddenly and dislocated her neck. The pain of the dislocation awakened her and she called loudly for help. Her parents rushed to her bedside and tried to allay her fears, but she continued to scream until she fainted from the pain.

When the older folks attempted to revive her they noticed that her head hung limp from her body. Not understanding what could ailed the child they called in a physician. He saw immediately that her neck was dislocated. An ambulance was called and she was hurried to the Homeopathic hospital, where a careful examination of the injury was made. It was found impossible to make any progress in giving the girl even temporary relief until the X-rays were used. With their aid an attempt was made to replace the dislocated vertebrae.

The first few attempts were unsuccessful, and the surgeons were in despair of saving the child's life, but finally an attempt was made which is thought to have been successful. With the aid of a harness the girl's head has been put in position and held there. It will be several days, however, before it is known what the results of the peculiar accident will be. In the meantime the case is being watched with much interest by the medical profession of this and neighboring cities.

WOOLING TERMS ARE MADE.

"Composite Mother" Sends Them to Bachelor

Huron S. D.—A few weeks ago a number of Westington Springs girls adopted an orphan girl and now are giving her a home. Since the fact became known the girls have received numerous applications to adopt other children but the most interesting feature of the whole affair is that a wealthy Nebraskan writes offering to marry any one of the 12 foster mothers and also to adopt and educate the child.

The girls gave the proposition a businesslike consideration and in reply to his letter made a counter proposition. It was that the oldest of the 12 accept his offer of marriage on these conditions:

That he prove that he is sincere
That he be qualified in every way to contract marriage
That he is able to provide a comfortable home for his bride and is willing to make provision for her every need and comfort
That he shall abstain from the use of cigarettes tobacco and intoxicants
That he use no profane language
That he spend his evenings at home

That he will not flirt with other women and will attend church at least once each Sunday

The Nebraskan's answer is awaited with interest.

SNAKE BITE TO CURE CANCER

Woman's Remarkable Experience Suggests a New Remedy.

Port Jervis, N. Y.—A remarkable cure of cancer has been effected on Mrs. Wilhelmina Ludwig, a farmers' wife, who resides several miles back of Millrift, in Pike county, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Ludwig has been a sufferer from a cancer on her left leg, just above the knee for a long time. The disease had advanced until a spot about six inches long by three wide was developed. While out picking huckleberries two weeks ago she was bitten on the leg by rattlesnakes. Her nephew, Karl Ludwig, came to her assistance and killed three rattlesnakes which by their appearance had just shed their skins.

Before the doctor came the woman's leg had swelled to an enormous size. A remarkable thing about the case was that the swelling did not go above the spot where the cancer was located. The physician said he could do nothing on account of the cancer, and that the woman would die.

And now comes the remarkable point in the case. The cancer, which had always had the appearance of ink, fringed with red turned into a running sore.

It remained in this condition for four days. On the fourth day the discharge stopped and proud flesh began to make its appearance. The snake poison had worked all through the cancer, the swelling disappeared, and the heretofore ugly looking cancer began to heal, and turned to a healthy flesh color.

To the joy of the patient and her family, the wound began to heal, and the other day Mrs. Ludwig was in town, almost cured.

Cutting Up a King's Yacht.
Hackensack, N. J.—The famous yacht Hildegarde, in its day one of the finest craft afloat, built in 1874 to the order of the prince of Wales, now king of Great Britain, at a cost of $80,000, is being cut to pieces in Hackensack river here. Its hull, made of Chinese teakwood, is being cut into souvenirs, and one will be sent to King Edward. Walking sticks, collar boxes and paper knives, made from the hull of King Edward's former pleasure craft, soon will be in many Hackensack homes.
